President and Mrs. Shannon

President's Corner

Alumni, Alumnae and Friends of the College,

I have recently passed the 100 day mark in my presidency of the College and still find every day to be a challenge and exciting adventure. I have had the opportunity to meet several of you in my travels and in your campus visits - I have appreciated your enthusiasm and share in your dedication and willingness to offer service to Saint Joseph's.

As you know, Homecoming and Parents' Weekend are two of our major Fall semester highlights. While the poor weather dampened a little of the outside activity for Homecoming, the excitement among returning alumni was high. Parents' Weekend was a great get-together — I met even more of you with children at Saint Joseph's during that weekend of activities.

I was happy to share our inaugural weekend with several of you who returned to campus. Our symposium on Catholic higher education, the inaugural Mass, the luncheon and installation ceremony were truly highlights for the campus. We capped the inaugural day with a picnic and dance in Halleck Center. Over 500 students participated in the installation ceremony and witnessed the first inauguration of a president in the history of the College. The days events confirmed my belief that I am truly in the right place at the right time for the SJC community.

I have challenged the community with a quote from St. Paul's letter to the Romans: "Be not conformed to this age, but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, so that you might know what is God's will, what is pleasing and what is perfect." That is, in essence, what this enterprise that we call Saint Joseph's is all about - transforming young people. The institution stays on the solid base that Father Banet and the preceding presidents built, but it must now go beyond to face the challenges of the Twenty-first Century.

Your College is thriving. My goals for the year include focusing on the academic culture of the institution, while encouraging more volunteer service among the students. As we diversify the student body both racially and ethnically, I have also challenged the students to continue to respect the moral code of ethics espoused in the Core curriculum. While we will stay focused on the liberal arts, I have also challenged the faculty to continue to prepare young people for careers in the next decade. I finally challenged the community to find and develop a passion at Saint Joseph's. This passion might be career oriented, service oriented or a personal passion for living the values of Christian humanism developed through the Core Program...but, in any case, education must help us all in that transformation.

As I have noted in previous letters, I look forward to meeting all of you - either in your backyard, or here in Collegeville. Pumas here in town continue to thrive and grow - because, as we now say on campus, everyday is a great day to be a Puma.

Sincerely,

Skip Shannon

Skip Shannon
President

SJC Sports Hall of Fame Moved to Hanson Recreation Center

Bach Performs Concert in SJC Chapel

Patricia Bach (Mary Patricia Smith Hengesbaugh '68) gave a gift of a concert of spirituals in SJC's Chapel.

She first presented this concert to the American Embassies in Budapest and Paris.

Patricia, a dramatic soprano, currently performs throughout Europe, and has sung at least three concerts for Mother Theresa.

Patricia earned her M.M. in vocal performance from the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago.

The re-dedication of the SJC Sports Hall of Fame was held on Saturday, September 25, 1993 as part of the Homecoming Weekend activities. The Hall has been moved from the lobby of the Alumni Fieldhouse to the larger lobby of the Hanson Recreation Center and from being a few photographs to becoming a 6' x 8' walnut board. The board has individual plaques of each of the 64 inductees and each plaque has a photograph etched in metal, name, class year, year of induction and the sport(s).

Jim Quinn '63, representing the Alumni Board, reviewed the history of the Hall from its inception in 1968 to 1993 and praised the Alumni Association for its willingness to upgrade the honor awarded to the inductees by donating the board to the College. Athletic Director Keith Freeman briefly reviewed the history of athletics at SJC and noted that from one sport in 1896, football, sports have increased to 16 (8 men, 8 women) intercollegiate teams. Keith called on Dick Scharf '38, inducted in 1969, to share some of his experiences of over 50 years of involvement with SJC sports. President Shannon spoke of the important role sports plays in the culture and moral life of Pumas and praised the many athletics of the College.

60 plus alumni, families and coaches attended the ceremony. Seen in the group were Bob Duax '41, inducted, 1969; Dave Gandolph '72, inducted, 1988; Kevin Sims '79, inducted, 1993 and Coach Bill Jennings, inducted, 1990.

Alumni Association Honors Four SJC Alumni

Four Saint Joseph's College alumni were honored by the Alumni Association during Homecoming festivities.

Father Charles Banet, C.P.P.S., '50, President Emeritus of the College, was given the Alumni Achievement Award. The award is given annually to an alumnus who has been an active participant in service and volunteer organizations, or achievement by an alumnus that reflects an interest or influence that was developed or furthered while the recipient attended Saint Joseph's. Father Banet devoted more than 50 years to Saint Joseph's as a student, priest, librarian and President, a position he held for 28 years. He has been an active participant in the community, Indiana higher education, and enhancement of the principles of Catholic education.

William J. McGuire '66, was named the Chapter Person-of-the-Year, an award given in recognition of individuals who have greatly contributed to the development and strengthening of the Alumni Association Chapter Development Projects. McGuire was the originator and principal organizer of the Chicago Chapter's Annual Picnic.

Father Dominic B. Gerlach, C.P.P.S., '46, and Father Charles J. Robbins, C.P.P.S., '33, were recipients of the Alumni Service Award, given annually to recognize the selfless giving of time, efforts, talents and service to the College.

Father Gerlach currently serves the College as professor emeritus of history and German. Since 1952, he has taught thousands of students, inspiring many to become scholarly alumni. In addition to his work as a priest and educator, Father Gerlach has authored Pictorial History of Saint Joseph's College, served as Religious Superior and for 35 years as College archivist.

Father Robbins served the College for 42 years as priest, teacher of classical languages, Registrar, Religious Superior and Director of Admissions and Student Financial Aid. In addition, he authored three chronologies of the history of the College and of the Society of the Precious Blood and for 20 years was Secretary of the Board of Trustees.

25th Anniversary of Women in Residence at SJC

A review of the events held during 1993 to celebrate the 25th Anniversary of Women in Residence at SJC.

January

An opening dinner, held on the 29th in the Halleck Center Ballroom, was attended by students, faculty, alumnae, and administrators. The dinner was highlighted by graduates sharing memories of their days at SJC. Also, recognition plaques were awarded by President Shannon, then vice president for academic affairs, to the women faculty and staff for their dedication.

February

Jody Taylor, reference/assistant librarian and assistant professor, worked up a Woman's History Month display case by the Auditorium. Student Virginia Johnson contributed art work to the display.

A recital by Anne-Marie Egan, associate professor of music, was presented in the Chapel on the 14th, followed by a reception.

A symposium planned and orchestrated by Sister Pat Robinson, professor of sociology, held on the 27th, was attended by SJC faculty, staff and alumnae. Presentations were also given by Jane Ames, an alumni director; Louisa Monfort, lecturer in art; and Marie Walsh '85. A luncheon was held in Core XI and the presentations were made in the Snack Bar.

March

Bill Jennings, assistant professor of physical education, contacted alumnae who are involved in support of sports programs beginning with the class of '72. A student seminar to discuss status of women's sports on campus was directed by him on the 18th.

April

A pre-Mass music arrangement was performed by the SJC choir at a special Mass celebration on the 25th. Alumnae, faculty, staff and community attended. Because of the theme of the Mass, women were emphasized in readings, musical compositions and homily.

August

A summer's festival of Sacred Music was dedicated on Sunday the 1st to the hundreds of women who as faculty members or students participated in the Rensselaer Program of Church Music and Liturgy. The program was performed by the Saint Joseph's College Summer Chorus.

September

Another event planned by the Women's Committee was a piano recital performed by Helena Davis, executive secretary for the academic dean, on the 19th.

Homecoming! A luncheon was held in the lounge of Halleck Center. Women who graduated in the early 70's were present and shared positive comments about the SJC curriculum and small colleges. The luncheon fostered fellowship among these women. A display was prepared by students Lisa Perez, Tracie Matuga, and Donna Bossung in the window of the Bookstore. It depicted the clothing worn indigenous to the years between 1973 and 1993, which had been collected by Heidi Rahe, lecturer in communications.

A special thanks to Louisa Monfort for the incredible design for the special poster in recognition of women. Also for the endless hours in assembling material from the alumnae to create the commemorative quilt.

Presently the Women's Committee and student leaders are planning a November Symposium to discuss reflections of the events during this commemorative year for women and to discuss goals to continue the awareness of women.

Efforts in December will be devoted to gathering items to place in a time capsule.

Klemme Named Indiana's NCAA Woman-of-the-Year

Sheryl Klemme '93, was recently named Indiana's NCAA Woman-of-the-Year. She is one of 51 state winners chosen from a field of 497 nominees by a national panel of media representatives.

The award, sponsored by Champion, is presented annually to a senior student-athlete who has demonstrated outstanding athletic ability, academic excellence, a dedication to community service and who has completed her athletic eligibility.

Sheryl was a three-year starter on SJC's women's basketball team, serving as a co-captain her senior year. She graduated with a perfect 4.0 and a bachelor's degree in political science.

Earlier this year she was the first student from a Division II school to win the NCAA's Walter J. Byers Postgraduate Scholarship award.

Saint Joseph's College's women's Athletic Department will receive a $5,000 donation from Champion.

She is the daughter of Orville and Mary Klemme and is currently enrolled in the University of Notre Dame's Law School.

David Osterfeld

October 20, 1949 - September 26, 1993

David Osterfeld

David Osterfeld '71, professor of political science at Saint Joseph's College, died suddenly September 26 of a heart attack.

Dave, 43 years old, suffered from diabetes and had just finished jogging when he collapsed in the SJC Hanson Recreation Center.

After earning his bachelor's degree in political science in 1971, he received his master's degree in political science in 1974 and his Ph.D. in 1977 from the University of Cincinnati. He joined Saint Joseph's College in 1978 as an assistant professor of political science, was named an associate professor in 1983, and was given full professorship in 1990.

Following is the eulogy given by Peter Watkins, assistant professor of political science, at the funeral Mass held in the SJC Chapel, September 29.

"Do you want to get a cup of coffee?" If I had a dollar for every time David asked me that, I would be a fairly rich man. Students would often see us walk across campus to get our coffee, and I'm sure they often wondered "Do those guys do anything but drink coffee?" Believe me, we did a lot more than drink coffee. As we walked across campus we would talk!

We would talk about the people we loved. He would talk about Emmy, Michael and Sarah, and other members of the family he so loved. I would talk about Jody and my family in Wales. We would also talk about our students, and about how proud we were of their success. We would talk politics, and politely disagree with each other about the merits of government involvement in a particular area of our lives. We would talk about the latest amusing column in the Rensselaer Republican. We would talk about baseball. Dave would talk about his beloved Cincinnati Reds. He would talk about visiting Crosley Field when he was young. He would tell me why Pete Rose should be elected to baseball's Hall of Fame. I would simply nod my head in agreement, and talk about the mighty Saint Louis Cardinals. The final thing that I can remember talking about on our walks was music. I love Bach, Beethoven, and Schumann. Dave loved the Beach Boys. Oh, how he loved the Beach Boys! Emmy told me only a few days ago that David probably owned every record the Beach Boys ever made.

If I only had a dollar for every time I heard "Good Vibrations" emanating from his office, I'd also be a relatively rich man. He told me he had 19 versions of the song.

A few days ago, the Lafayette Journal and Courier in an article about David, wrote that he unsuccessfully ran for Congress in the 1980's. The writer of that article obviously didn't know David very well. David, a candidate for the Libertarian Party, ran as a matter of principle. David wasn't concerned about winning or losing that election. David wasn't disappointed about losing. David's disappointment at his electoral performance came weeks, if not months, after the election.

After every election, Congressional Quarterly publishes a summary of the results of the election. David, some of you will remember, received just over a thousand votes, approximately .5% of the votes cast. Under normal circumstances, this total would have been rounded up to indicate that the candidate received 1% of the vote. On this occasion, it was rounded downwards indicating that Dave received 0% of the vote. He always mentioned that when he talked about that election. Whenever he mentioned it, however, he smiled.

Dave Osterfeld was much more than a companion who drank coffee with me however. Dave was "the best and brightest" that Saint Joseph's College has ever produced. He was a man of extraordinary intellect, who was the author of a congeries of articles and Op-Ed opinions which were reprinted in a multitude of languages. He was also the author of a monograph, and of two books. His books, Freedom, Society and the State: An Investigation into the Possibility of Society without Government, and Prosperity versus Planning: How Government Stifles Economic Growth were perceptive and brilliant pieces. In that sense they were very much like David himself.

David was also a gifted teacher. Never given to theatrics, David contributed to the development of some of the finest students this College has ever produced. Whether through the power of his intellect or through some of the most awful jokes ever heard (I especially remember the one about John Locke), he would quietly engage his students in a discussion about Political Science...in a discussion about life.

Dave Osterfeld was feted by academics at some of the great universities and research institutes in this country. His reputation moreover, was not just national but international. He won every prize that Saint Joseph's College awards to members of its faculty. He was consulted by members of both the House and Senate. To those of us who knew him well however, he was just Dave. You could often find him cheering on Saint Joseph's College's basketball teams from the stands. He often remarked that 2/5's of the starting line-up of the women's basketball team were Political Scientists. On the day before he died he stood in the rain for two hours watching Michael and Sarah play soccer. On the day of his death, he was in his office working and listening to the very best of Chuck Berry.

As Bill Brennan said on the passing of Thurgood Marshall, "I will miss him terribly". I know that we will all miss Dave "terribly".

*****

Additional aspects of Dave's work are slated for publication in the near future. An article, The Liberating Potential of Multinational Corporations will be published in a book, Perpetuating Poverty: The World Bank, the IMF, and the Developing World. The book will be published by the CATO Institute. Ian Vasquez, the Assistant Director of the Project on Global Economic Liberty at the CATO Institute, stated that a dedication in memory of Dave will be placed in the book.

Gifts With Special Meaning

Often, families prefer, instead of flowers, to establish a memorial in the name of a deceased family member or friend.

Such memorial gifts should be sent to Saint Joseph's College, Box 870, Rensselaer, IN 47978. The donor will be acknowledged and the family notified.

If the memorial is substantial, the family may wish to consult with a college official in the office of Development as to the best use of the money to benefit a lasting memorial.

Gifts may also be made in honor of someone or to celebrate an occasion. A birthday present, for example, for one who has everything might be a named gift of $50 to the library to purchase books.
